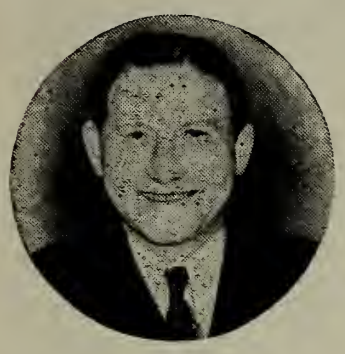
"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

By Bill Gersh



ALLIANCE

One of the big jobs that faces this industry is to ally itself with its basic medium for profit - the locations. This will have to come regardless of what the thoughts of the men are about their locations to insure these locations remaining their own and also to assure themselves continued profitable operation for and after the post-war era. Remember that a returned soldier walking into any of your spots with one empty sleeve, can win a lot of sympathy. Probably enough sympathy to take the location away from you.

For years there have been plans made by one coinman and another in an attempt to insure holding locations. Contracts have been arranged. Loans have been made. Closer relationships have been attempted. And, in almost every possible fashion, coinmen have tried to reach some sort of understanding where they are more or less permanently assured their locations. Associations in certain cities have been successful in this regard. In other centers they have failed.

But, regardless of whatever other plans have gone before, new ones will have to be arranged for so that the coinman is assured his location thru some sort of an alliance whether it is thru a general association or personal contract. The retailer can become the most powerful booster for the coinman. His backing should be carefully and diplomatically arranged for so that harmful political activities will be wiped away by a complete understanding between retailer and operator.

Whatever the alliance that will come about, it should be arranged for as soon as is possible, long before the war is won, so that those men who endured the hardships of the war period will benefit most from the post-war era by remaining in control of the locations they have developed.

COOPERATION

Without even realizing it, this industry has shown more and better cooperative effort so far this year than it has in many previous years. With the industry a smaller, more highly concentrated and more solidified unit, the men have grown closer to each other and thereby come to better understand each other's problems. This war has done much to bring about this closer understanding among the members of this industry by shortening distances.

This cooperation will continue and will eventually lead to a better understanding for all concerned. Only by such closer cooperation can the members of this industry assure themselves a finer future. This one certainty should be engraved on the minds of every coinman, "Cooperate with your fellow coinmen and you will find yourself in a better and healthier position in this industry for the duration and most assuredly for and after the post war era."

Cooperation is being brought about of itself. There are still a great many skepticisms, cynicisms and suspicions which have to be cleared away to make this a completely cooperative industry. But only by working the hard way does anyone enjoy the eventual success he attains. It is our belief that by continuing in the way which the men have been doing these past few months they will eventually reach that stage wherein, of their own accord, they will find it most worthwhile to their future welfare to completely cooperate with each other.

RESERVE

Many months ago The Cash Box suggested to coinmen thruout the country that they arrange to create a financial reserve for themselves to help them during the coming post war era when new equipment will appear on the market in larger quantity than was ever before known and possibly at much higher prices.

Those coinmen who have adopted such a plan will find themselves in an enviable position when this war is won. Only by a good capital reserve can the average firm in this business be assured continued prosperity during and after the post war era.

All plans now being made by manufacturers are based on the fact that the firms now engaged in this industry will be in position to instantly purchase the equipment they will manufacture and continue to manufacture while they go ahead with many plans they have to produce what they believe will be the most profitable of products.

A reserve system should be set up. It should mainly be composed of Government War Bonds. This sort of capital can be turned into ready cash and also act as collateral in those cases where credit is most desirable. This method of savings will not only act as a boon to this industry today, by the continued heavier purchase of War Bonds, but will most assuredly act as the necessary inducement to start the manufacturers into new products with a will.

CHANGES

A great many coinmen noting the condition of this industry at this time fear a complete and general upset immediately the war is over. We do not agree. We believe that all changes will be gradual. We do agree that there will be many changes. There is no doubt that the fermenting point which has been reached in this industry at this time is only an indication of what is forthcoming in the future.

Change is a gradual process. The present set-ups will continue, we believe, and coinmen will gradually adjust themselves to whatever new conditions arise as time goes on. We also believe that the changes themselves will be sufficiently gradual to allow all coinmen, regardless of their position in this industry, to meet and handle them as they see best fit to do.

What is therefore most important is for the men in this industry to arrange their affairs in such fashion that whatever changes will occur will not hurt them. In short, solidifying present set-ups will insure continuance thru the change period, up to a certain degree. When the change begins tc affect the present set-up the coinmen can arrange, easily, cautiously, conservatively and carefully, to go along with it and change accordingly.

Changes are surely on the way. We believe that as constituted at present this industry will not suffer from the changes that will come about. It will, in the opposite, benefit from them.

NATIONAL BOARD

The National Coin Machines Board of Trade will eventually come about of its own necessity as more coinmen realize the need for experienced leadership. A National Coin Machines Board of Trade will in no fashion whatsoever injure local groups now in existence. If anything, it will prove to their advantage. Only a National Coin Machines Board of Trade can watch out for the welfare of the entire nation's coinmen and help preserve whatever prestige this industry has gained.

The National Coin Machines Board of Trade is not an "association" from the former understanding of what associations have been. It is a national group of men in this industry to carefully and correctly guide the welfare of all the industry and by its complete, national membership accomplish results which local groups can never expect to obtain.

There is no doubt that the moment the war is over, many will jump into the limelight in an attempt to create an organization of this kind. It will therefore be to the advantage of the entire trade to carefully watch all national organizations which will be attempted. Complete study should be given to each movement that will arise, and there is no doubt that a great many will arise, for everyone has come to realize the need for a national group. And the need grows greater each day.

Eventually the National Coin Machines Board of Trade will gain the necessary momentum to carry it over the top. As many have already suggested, a meeting of the leaders of this industry should be held this coming Fall '43 to discuss such plans.

EXPORT

Those who have had something to do with the export of coin operated equipment, prior to this war, realize that this was fast becoming an extremely important division of the coin machines industry of this nation. There is no doubt anymore that its success is today assured and that the first passenger ships and planes from Europe, when the war is over, will bring buyers here to obtain coin machines of every type.

The British market, which by the way is enjoying boom play of all coin operated equipment at this time, will be greater than it ever was, according to all indications.

"The Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round"

The British believe that they will again be able to handle the rest of Europe as they practically did in the pre-war era. This may prove profitable to the average American coin machines manufacturers for it is a certainty that it is much better to deal with one reliable source and especially a more easily understood and communicable source, than with a scattered many all over the European continent.

American troops have created a new interest in coin operated equipment thruout Asia and Africa. This is sure to result in greater business than was ever formerly enjoyed from some of the more remote spots of the world. South America gives all indication of proving a tremendously profitable market. Asia, Russia, Africa and especially the European continent are all assured customers.

The export field looms ever more important to all the coin machines industry. It is bound to prove itself a highly specialized field requiring the services of export organizations and banking institutions that understand the requirements and laws of each country. Regardless of these technicalities, which can be easily overcome, the coin machines industry can look forward to greater returns from exportation of coin operated equipment than ever before in its history.

HONORABLE MENTION

This week we take pleasure in giving Honorable Mention to Ben Rodins of Marlin Amusement Co., Washington, D.C., for the fine charitable work he is doing and which reflects with honor upon all this industry.

Also to Irvin Blumenfeld of The General Vending Service Co., Baltimore, Md., for the effort he has already given in helping the U.S.O. entertainment groups as well as the continued giving freely to men in uniform in the far flung places of the globe.

And to Max Bushwick of Capital Amusement Co., Philadelphia, Pa., for his American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and charitable activities which have won him much praise and which reflect with great credit upon all this industry.

PAT-ON-THE-BACK DEPT.

A letter from Ben Horowitz of Albena Sales Co., New York City, which reads, "We have only recently begun to advertise in The Cash Box and we can say this right here and now, the results are tremendously gratifying, in fact, publications whose advertising rates are far more costly than yours do not even compare in results. We can safely say that anyone having coin machines or parts to sell don't know what they are missing until they try The Cash Box. Lots of luck to you and long, long may you prosper."

Irv Blumenfeld of The General Vending Service Co., Baltimore, Md., writes us, "First, may we say that your 'Coin Machines Merry-Go-Round' is a natural. Whether or not the price lists or advertising sections of The Cash Box are valuable to any particular person, we here personally feel that the inside information, as well as the market reports and news which vitally affect this industry, make The Cash Box a tremendous factor and a most necessary one to everyone who hopes to maintain his business after Victory is ours. We unhesitatingly tell you that you rate not only an honorable mention, but something more, the sincere thanks of the entire industry for the invaluable service you are rendering."

DISTANCES GROW SHORTER

It is now most apparent that The Cash Box prediction of many months ago has come to pass. At that time The Cash Box stated that because of our First Class mailing method we believed that we would help to pull the industry closer together and thereby help to shorten distances.

As certain leaders in this business have advised us, "The moment we receive The Cash Box we check off the items we want and also what we believe we have for sale and we're in action from then on."

Not only has The Cash Box helped to bring the men closer together and also thereby created better understanding, but has been largely responsible for the appreciation shown for each other in the methods the coinmen use today to do business. It is our belief that as The Cash Box continues to grow that it leads into that new era when distance from coast to coast will be measured by hours instead of by miles.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

For more than 15 years, as the writer traveled from coast to coast, he has at various times been told, "What this industry needs most is a publication that is exclusively devoted to this business and written and published by people who thoroly understand the workings of this trade."

We believe, this being our First Anniversary, that we can truly state we have such a publication in The Cash Box. That it has a most important place in this industry. That we can look forward with great hope and confidence to the time when Victory will be ours and when we can, at last, present to this industry what we believe will prove a publication comparable in all aspects to anything ever produced in the publishing history of this country. Yet, a publication that will most definitely and confidentially confine itself to the active members of this industry - exclusively.

MARKET ANALYSIS

On the following page will be found the first known published "Market Analysis Chart" in the history of the coin machines industry. This is the result of this past year's study of market conditions based upon prices as quoted each week and which appear in "The Confidential Price Lists" section of The Cash Box. The chart is easy to understand. It uses June, 1942, as a basis to show how prices increased by percentage in all machine categories.

MUSIC

Lowest price increase since June '42 was in music. Only a 20% rise is noted. Remember that all price rises are averaged. Newer and more popular equipment may have jumped in some cases as much as 40% and 50%. But, this is averaged by the fact that older equipment more or less maintained its price for the entire year (from June '42 to June '43) and in some isolated cases machines have even gone down in price. The average increase for this field for this past year is 20%. Remember too, that the machines are one year older than in June '42.

CONSOLES

Biggest price rise for this past year is in the consoles field. Prices started to rise slowly at the beginning of this year, gradually caught up this past Fall, started climbing this past winter and reached unprecendented heights this spring and summer.

PINS

The pinball market was rather jittery. It was low in June, '42, and continued low. Then with the opening of much territory prices suddenly zoomed. A few months of this and the later model games were cleared away. The market again faltered and has since been going up and down in undecided fashion. The pinball market continues unsteady. The only steadying influence in this field can be attributed to the revampers who have done a truly remarkable job. There is no doubt that this field will once again zoom upward at the slightest inclination and this time may climb to new highs.

SLOTS

The slot situation had already begun to make itself pretty much apparent in June '42. Prices were already high, but continued to climb an additional 60% higher during this year with the machines becoming more difficult to obtain each week. There are many rebuilt machines being sold for new equipment in this field at this time. It is extremely hard to gauge the sales prices for any machines in this field at this time because of the uncertainty of being able to purchase them. This 60% increase, in addition to the high prices already in effect June, 1942, gives a very good idea of the slot market's price rise.

ONE-BALLS

Here is another field that continued its climb regardless of the fact that prices in June '42 were already at a tremendously high mark. Prices soared over 100% above what they were in June, a year ago. The one-ball market is probably the "rare field" of the industry with equipment here almost impossible to obtain and prices being asked so far away from average that any method for future market computation would be impracticable at this time.

ARCADE

Arcade equipment enjoyed a 100% jump over prices in June '42. As reported this past Spring there isn't enough arcade equipment around to handle the demand. A great many more arcades would have been opened this past Decoration Day were it possible to obtain the necessary equipment. Such items as guns, rifle ranges, etc., are becoming extremely hard to obtain. Prices asked are far above what anyone ever dreamed they would reach in this field. And this is not figuring on many types of guns and other equipment which are almost out of the picture, for the price increase in these, in many cases, is far above the 100% mark since June, 1942.

MARKET ANALYSIS CHART: Shows how prices increased from June, 1942 to June, 1943. Price increase is based on average for each entire field. Where one certain type of machine may have jumped more than the percentage increase shown, the entire field (averaged) increased in price percentage as per the chart. (More information can be had on the preceding page referring to "Market Analysis").

"C O I N G A L S"

Many months ago we recommended the employment of women for servicing and collecting. Here and there thruout the country the call was heeded. In Baltimore, Boston, Newark, Portland, and in other cities, women have proved highly successful in this occupation and gradually more and still more firms are hiring them. (This will have to be done anyway for now the Federal government has streamlined its policy on manpower and will soon begin to take fathers into the armed services and force even highly paid executives into war jobs at much lower salaries.) Each of these firms, already employing "coingals" (as we prefer to call them), admit that they rapidly take hold and are quick to learn.

The above picture was sent to us by Miss L. Helen Cusson of the Jack R. Moore Co., Portland, Ore., (one of our very first subscribers) and is the most interesting we have as yet received from anywhere in the country. In a long distance phone conversation Miss Cusson explained to us that many an operator has since inquired as to the how and where he, too, could do the same for himself. Miss Cusson advises that the firm is tremendously pleased with these alert looking young women. "They are proving themselves an extremely efficient and intelligent service force", says Miss Cusson, "they will act in this capacity until our men come back from the armed services. We believe that they will then make a marvelous addition, because of the training they will have had by that time to our proposed, enlarged staff, when the war is over."

We do not say that everyone will prove as successful as the Jack R. Moore Company, but we do believe that those who are finding themselves in a quandary as to obtaining efficient help should give the gals a chance. Those who have chosen wisely and given the gals a fair trial are tremendously pleased with the results and absolutely swear by these "coingals", even over former service men. Those who are careful in their choice, even more careful during the training period, and liberal in their understanding of the trials these gals will have to go thru in the beginning, are completely repaid for their efforts.

The above "coingals" can be depended upon in their outside servicing jobs just as much as you can depend upon the coingal who runs your office, keeps your books, reminds you to pick up shipments and otherwise keeps you generally informed of the things you like to know, even to discovering this page before you probably will. You will find many a mechanically minded young woman these days eager and happy to take on a well paying service job, and believe us, extremely capable of correctly handling herself in even the below average location. Maybe, to your surprise, even a bit better than some of the boys who have worked for you in the past. And when your men come back from winning the war you'll find these "coingals" a most valuable addition to your business.

With almost as many women at work as men thruout the nation, the sight of a girl servicing a machine comes as no surprise to your locations nor to its customers. Furthermore it has already been proven many times that locations extend more cooperation and courtesy and that this helps "coingals" to work better, and faster, too. The majority of firms who use "coingals" do so for the daylight hours. Men take over the night servicing, if any. "Coingals" waste no time at bars buying drinks for the house. They get their collection slips signed quickly and on they go. And, what's more, locations realize that these are young ladies at work and this in itself has helped cut down on complaints, arguments and abusive language which many service men have had to endure.

...this thing we call - a coin machine

that someone thought up and in which someone else saw opportunity and there came to be an industry. Building a coin machine is like putting on a show. In well guarded, hidden, factory nooks, away from all else, sit busy men who saw and file and draw and think and argue and calculate and eventually produce the first handmade model of - a coin machine. And then it is fearfully viewed by the manufacturer and his engineers and production experts and his advertising and merchandising staff. Just like drilling the chorus and rehearsing the stars and listening to the new songs and building the stage settings. And then, after so many, many thousands have been spent, the curtain is raised. And there, presented to all is - a coin machine. And it either reaches the top or becomes a flop on the say-so of those small and big town critics who buy it, guide it, and attempt to earn with it.

And what about those men who baby it? Who are called out of their warm beds at midnight because Joe Doak's Tavern needs $2.00 worth of nickels? And return home tired and disgruntled? And somewhere on a lonely road in some dingy honky-tonk another coin machine has stopped functioning. And up he gets again. And once again he starts to drive. Sleepy, tired, grouchy - and all for what? For this thing we call - a coin machine. He lives it. He eats it. He dreams it. He trades and deals and argues and chisels and buys and sells and somehow keeps on going for this thing we call - a coin machine. "What a life", he cries in disgust.

He continually howls about being "gypped", about "junk being shipped to me", about "machines that won't work", and about "manufacturers who don't care a damn about you after you're sold", and about "distributors that are just after your money", and about "locations that are always griping" and about "parts that you never get when you order 'em", and about a thousand and one things more. But - he loves it - loves this thing we call - a coin machine.

"Damn taxes are getting higher", he laments, "storekeepers are getting too smart", he wails, and he cries, "who in the hell wants to be in a business where locations disappear overnight" and "where you don't know whether you are in or out of business when you wake up" and "where legislators and politicians and cops and sheriffs and every monkey's uncle wants something or other from you" and "when you think you're making a buck along comes another new gadget and you've got to buy it whether you like it or not or lose the spot" and "you've got to take some jerk's guff and like it" and "you listen to complaints that make you sick and you've got to smile thru it all".

"And", he groans, "you run into debt and the finance companies holler and your jobber yells and they put collectors on your tail" and "when you want a Sunday off along comes some location and tells you he's having a Polish wedding and won't you bring some machines around for the guests to play - free" and "when you're all set to take a vacation some new monkey busts into your territory and starts offering loans and crazy percentages to get the spots" and "you're all set to quit and the offers they make you for your equipment almost knock you cold, everything they sold you is suddenly N.G. and lousy and old, and you just bought the stuff"....."so what the hell else is there to do?"..... "You're stuck, so you may as well stay stuck."....."After all, it ain't such a bad business, you know." ..... "This thing we call - a coin machine."

THE COIN MACHINES WORLD OF TOMORROW

The great developments that are under way at this time portend a marvelous future for those men who will be engaged in the coin machines industry - tomorrow. Electronic developments which may even eliminate the use of present type records and needles. Cigarette machines which will accept coins of large denomination, make change, and deliver packs of cigarettes without the need for pushing or pulling handles or working any gadgets. Amusement devices of a new type never before dreamed about, incorporating the lessons learned thru use of the new manufacturing processes and electrical advancements.

These and many more surprises are being prepared for the future. For the day when the war will finish and the firms who have long considered this coin machines industry a lucrative business will enter with all their great manufacturing and financial power to build this division of America's general amusements industry to new and undreamed of heights.

Nor are these statements - dreams - or hopes. But facts. Facts that each and every day make themselves more and more apparent. Facts that are gradually becoming known to many leaders as they enter into consultations with manufacturers on products they only dreamed about a few years ago.

The coin machines world of tomorrow will be a new and different and better business. A more highly developed and possibly more complex industry. It will perhaps have to make way for a great many new leaders who will start it off on a path it had always hoped for. It will look intimately into foreign markets that are now accumulating vast cash reserves in this country as the trade balance swings their way momentarily. It will be as well acquainted with the machines that are popular in Britain and China and Russia and South Africa and Australia and all over the rest of the world as it will be with the machines that will prove popular in this nation.

As The Cash Box enters into its second year in this industry, these are the facts that cause this medium to hit harder than ever to gain the necessary type of business ethics which will allow for those firms now engaged in the coin machines industry to best benefit from the developments that are certain to come about when this war is won.

The coin machines world of tomorrow - the world that all the leaders in this industry are striving for - that world is a surety. It's a new world - a speedier, better, grander, bigger world for those men who know the way to merchandise and to develop and to promote and to market. It's a world worth working and waiting for.

These Prices In Effect for One Week Only

Check Former Lists to Average High and Low Prices

IMPORTANT

The Confidential Price Lists are to be read as follows: First price listed is lowest price for the week; Second price listed is highest price for the week; Where only oneprice appears this should be considered lowest price.

Many times, wide differences appear in the high and low prices of certain equipment. Like any true reporter The Confidential Price Lists can only feature the market prices as they are quoted. The Confidential Price Lists act exactly the same as the market quotation board at the Stock Exchange—posting the prices exactly as they are quoted for each week, regardless of how much they may seem to be out of line. Some machine prices do not change for months. The Confidential Price Lists, rather than show no price for the week, retain the last known quotations for such equipment so that the subscriber at least has the last known quoted prices as a basis to work with. Prices continue to be very widely divergent these days. Someone on the West Coast may feel a certain machine worth $150.00 whereas someone on the East Coast may think it worth but $75.00. Of course, condition, serial, appearance, demand, territory, quantity, etc., must all be taken into consideration. The Confidential Price Lists report each quotation exactly as it is made and depend on the subscriber to make average price adjustment to fit the peculiarities of his own territory.

CODE

CHECK THIS CODE CAREFULLY. BECOME ACQUAINTED WITH EACH ONE OF THE CODE NUMBERS AND WHAT THEY SIGNIFY. THESE CODE NUMBERS APPEAR IN FRONT OF THE NAME OF EACH MACHINE.

1—Means price went up.
2—Means price went down.
3—Means this machine just added to list.
4—Means prices went up and down same week.
5—Means prices remained same as in past week's issue.
6—Means no prices quoted for this machine this week.
7—Means no prices quoted for this machine for past two weeks.
8—Means no prices quoted for this machine for past three weeks.
9—Means no prices quoted for this machine for past four weeks or longer.

NEW PRODUCTS WANTED

IF YOU HAVE DEVELOPED A MACHINE OR PRODUCT, OR HAVE PATENTS COVERING THEM, SUITABLE FOR MANUFACTURE AFTER THE WAR, THIS WILL BE OF INTEREST TO YOU:-

Prior to the war we developed and manufactured many varieties of machines including Mutoscopes, Diggers, Skyfighters, Drive-Mobiles, Ace Bombers, Athletic Testing Machines, Arcade Machines of all types, Voice-O-Graphs, and Photomatics.

Almost all of our facilities are now engaged in government work—much of it of a highly complicated nature requiring special machinery, highly skilled labor and considerable expansion. Thus, our experience with war work will enable us, after the war, to produce equipment for the Coin Machine Industry on a larger scale and of a greater variety than ever before.

We are therefore now looking for new machines or new products, or patents covering them, for post-war manufacture.

We will be pleased to negotiate with you, if you have any items that are new, patentable and of sufficient interest to us. Of course, we assume no obligation with respect to any items submitted to us prior to the conclusion with you of specific arrangements concerning such submitted items.

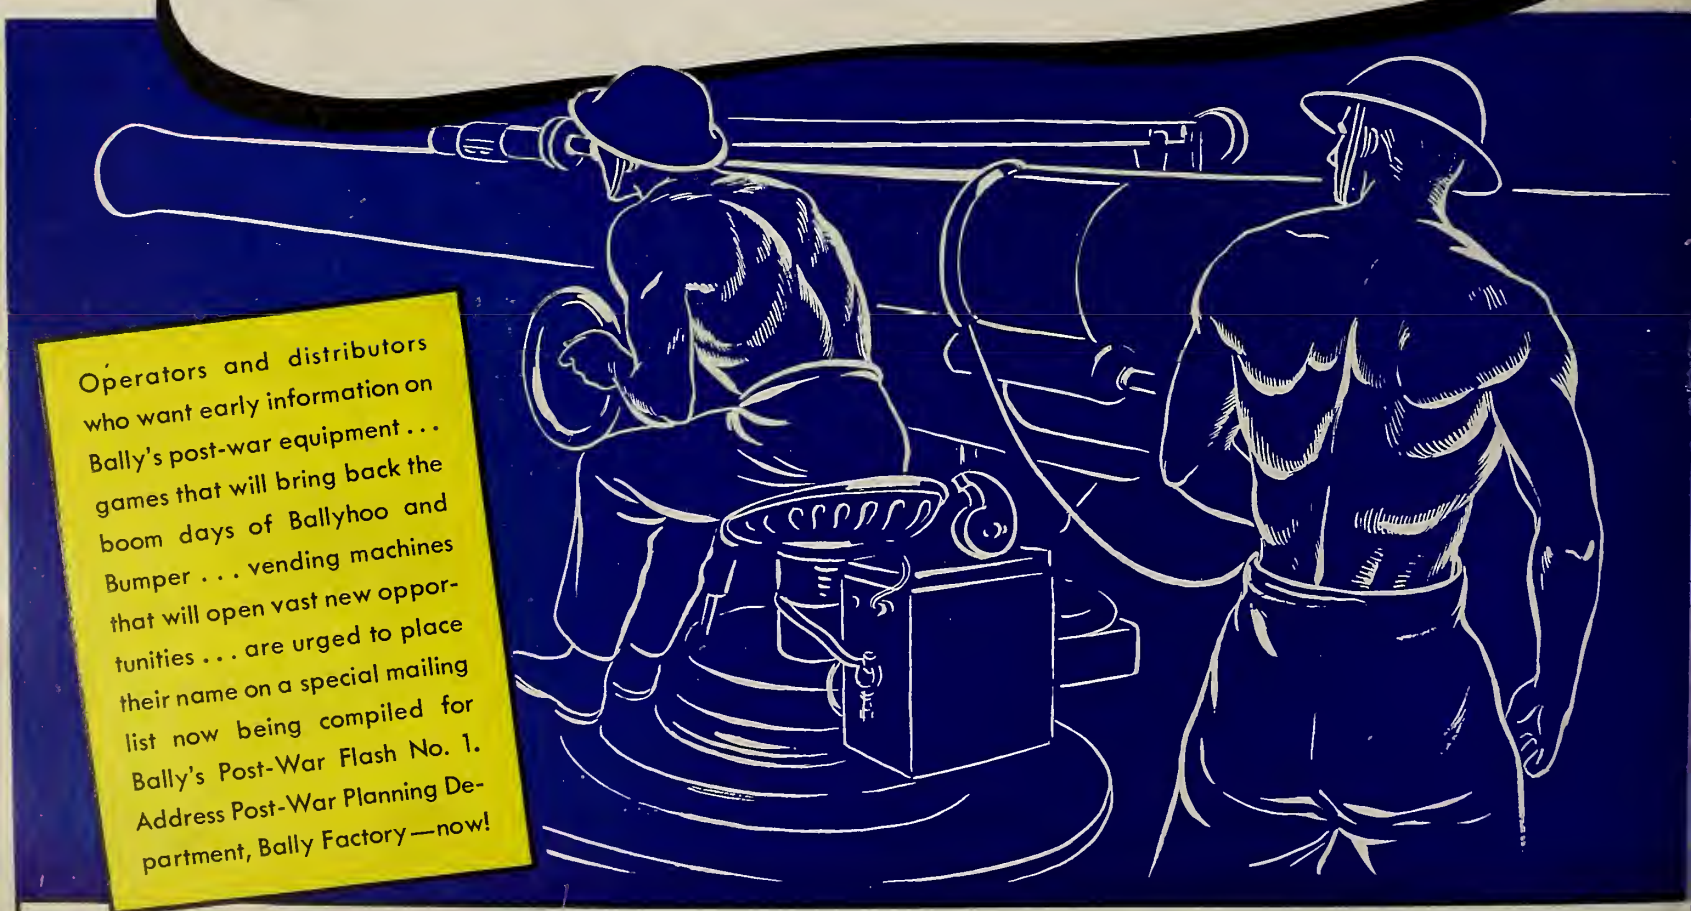
Bally PRODUCTS IN '43 ARE NOT FOR AMUSEMENT ONLY

AMERICAN FIGHTERS . . . men of the free, fun-loving breed for whom Bally games were created . . . are now blasting the enemy out of sky and sea with the aid of war-products manufactured by the Bally organization. Today Bally's only task is to help the Army and Navy fight for America's "life and liberty." But, when America turns again to "the pursuit of happiness," bank on Bally Games and Venders to be in the forefront of post-war prosperity.



Operators and distributors who want early information on Bally's post-war equipment . . . games that will bring back the boom days of Ballyhoo and Bumper . . . vending machines that will open vast new opportunities . . . are urged to place their name on a special mailing list now being compiled for Bally's Post-War Flash No. 1. Address Post-War Planning Department, Bally Factory—now!
